Hundreds of children and their parents assembled at the city hall parking lot where floats from each of the city's parks, clubs, decorated bicycles and other entries were readied for the parade. Architect Named
The general services administrator for the city of Twin Falls, Idaho, has named a new architect to design and supervise the construction of the new city hall. The architect is a well-known local firm.

Thant Views U.N. Decision "Not Useful"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UPI) — U. N. Secretary General U. Thant said yesterday he did not see how the security council could be "usefully involved" in any settlement of the South-east Asia crisis at this time. Thant expressed his views to newsmen after spending virtually the entire afternoon at the state department where he and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had a two-hour working lunch. This was followed by a 90-minute meeting between the secretary general and other high American officials.

The U. N. leader, who was given a red carpet reception at the White House Thursday morning, conferred an hour with President Johnson and then was taken on a tour of the White House gardens before going to the state department.

Asked what he thought the United Nations could do in the present Southeast Asia crisis, he said: "It is for the U. N. security council to take any action it deems fit under the circumstances but, for the moment, as far as the security council cannot be usefully involved in Southeast Asia because of the inherent limitation in the composition of the security council, the wording of the U. N. charter and to the context of the very peculiar circumstances prevailing in the area."

He pointed out that one of the limitations he had in mind was the fact that North Viet Nam was not a member of the United Nations.

Johnson told U. Thant on his arrival at the White House that "America's purpose is to prevent war and prevent others from provoking war."

FDP Elects Delegates to Demo Parley
JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 7 (UPI) — The newly formed Freedom Democratic party (FDP) last night elected a national delegation of 68 persons to challenge the seating of regular state Democrats at the Democratic national convention.

The delegation of 64 Negroes and four whites, headed by Aaron Henry, state president of the national association for the advancement of colored people, adopted a pledge of loyalty to the national party, President Johnson and his running mate.

Leaders of the group went to the Atlantic City convention Aug. 24. More than 1,500 persons, largely Negroes, from 40 of the state's 82 counties attended the state convention.

The regular Democratic party, at its convention last week, delayed selection of presidential electors until after the national meeting. A number of the state's Democratic leaders have openly endorsed Republican Barry Goldwater. To date, no state Democratic leader has spoken out for President Johnson.

President Johnson yesterday paid high tribute to former President Herbert Hoover and called on the nation to join in observing Hoover's 80th birthday Aug. 10.

Johnson's tribute was in a proclamation issued as he signed a joint resolution by the house and senate providing for commemoration of the 31st President's birthday.

"It is appropriate that on the anniversary of the birth of this statesman and humanitarian we pause to express our gratitude for his dedicated service to our country and to the world," the proclamation said.

South Viet Nam Is Declared in State Of Full Emergency

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Aug. 7 (UPI) — South Vietnamese military Premier Nguyen Khanh proclaimed a state of full emergency throughout the country today, warning that "we can be attacked at any moment." In a double-barreled decree announced at a news conference, the grim-faced Khanh placed all power in his own hands, making himself the absolute ruler of the country in the current crisis with communism.

He suspended all laws, banned strikes and demonstrations, imposed censorship and travel restrictions, and decreed arrests without appeal and death for convicted saboteurs and terrorists.

He said the "coming weeks will decide the fate of our people" and called on the inhabitants of North Viet Nam to rise up and overthrow their communist masters. He pledged South Vietnamese help in any uprising.

Khanh said his action was taken "in the face of danger of open aggression from communist imperialism."

South Viet Nam has been braced since Wednesday, in the wake of U.S. air attacks on North Vietnamese bases, for a possible frontal assault by forces from North Viet Nam.

Nationalist Chinese sources on Formosa reported from Taipei that Communist China has been moving men and planes toward North Viet Nam.

The China News quoted "authoritative sources" as reporting that "a large number" of Red Chinese jet fighter planes were sent to the North Vietnamese capital city of Hanoi yesterday.

The English language newspaper said the Soviet-built MIG's dispatched from mainland China were "below 100."

This report came after U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said it was "possible" that Red China would move combat aircraft into North Viet Nam following the American retaliatory aerial attacks.

U. S. aircraft today strafed and bombed the jungle near Saigon in an attempt to locate and destroy Viet Cong guerrillas fighting off efforts to reach a U.S. air force B-57 bomber which crashed yesterday.

B-57's and F-105 jet fighters have been flown to South Viet Nam during the past two days to strengthen air defense.

The nightly noise and general disturbance on Addison avenue west prompted 13 owners and representatives of motels and drive-ins to meet Thursday afternoon with Twin Falls city commissioners, the city manager and local state peace officers. After two hours of generally calm, though sometimes heated, discussion that engendered many complaints and few solutions, Commissioner John Platt summarized these points: (1)

Motel and drive-in owners along the avenue will have to make a more concentrated effort to get names of offenders and signs of their vehicles can make arrests.

(2) The idea of posting signs on both ends of the entrance of the motel area on the avenue will be looked into carefully. Proposed by Ernie Martin, 130 Addison avenue west, the signs would prohibit excessive noise and label the area a "quiet zone" because of the 10 motel and the Magic Valley Memorial hospital.

(3) There should be an adult in the three drive-ins at all times.

(4) Drive-in parking lots should be blacktopped so that excessive dirt will not bother motel patrons and Addison avenue residents.

Commissioner Chairman Eggen Krohn said the committee would sit down with city law administrators and relay ideas that were offered. He also suggested owners and managers of the motels and drive-ins consider better communication among themselves.

"The city recognizes," he said, "that the major business along the avenue is motels, drive-ins and service stations. They have conflicting personalities and these must be recognized."

The complaints of the motel and drive-in representatives cost a war range, but settled mostly with excessive noise of cars and motorcycles and from youths milling about the avenue. It has been going on for the past three years.

A major complaint that he and others voiced was that city policemen did not appear to be patrolling the area.

Viet Nam Resolution Passed by Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UPI) — The house and senate approved in quick succession today an emergency Viet Nam resolution upholding President Johnson in any "fight-if-we-must" measures needed to counter red aggression in Southeast Asia. The resolution was requested by Johnson as part of his crisis actions this week when North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked U. S. destroyers and American naval bombers struck back at red PT boat nests on the North Viet Nam coast.

In a ringing demonstration of bipartisan unity in an election year, the house voted 414-0 for the resolution. Right on the heels of that unanimous vote, the senate completed congressional action.

The political closing of ranks behind the President was dramatized during the house debate by Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck who declared: "On matters concerning the security of our country, and particularly when these matters involve armed aggression against our people and our flag, I stand with the President."

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert said: "Let both friend and foe know that the American people will not let any party differences divide them in time of crisis."

The resolution states that "the congress approves and supports the determination of the President — as commander in chief — to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States."

Bids High on Projects for T. F. School

Proposed construction of bleachers and paving of a parking lot at Twin Falls high school Thursday evening, according to Ernest Ragland, superintendent of schools in district 411.

"The bids totaled $25,000 more than we had set aside for the project," Ragland said. "Improvements are wanted and are certainly needed, but we have to live within our means."

He noted that "for years" the high school athletic field has been short of seating area and that the high school parking lot has pointed up the need of a paved one.

Ragland said the school board will meet Monday at 8 p.m. to consider the bids again.

"But construction of either project for the new arena," he declared, "Of course, it is up to board members."

After consultation with Harold Gerber, architect for the bleachers, Ragland said, "There is some possibility the rebuilding will be done this fall on the bleachers."

The low bid on the lumber for the bleachers that would seat 3,000 was $4,043.66, submitted by Hume Lumber and Coal company. Other bids were $4,068.30, Bestway Building Center; $4,120.08, Keel - Wilkison - Stronk Lumber company and $4,474.64, General Building Supply.

Base bids for construction of the bleachers were $54,300, Reynolds Construction company; $55,000, J. A. Clawson Construction company and $57,400, Earl B. Beck Construction company. Preliminary plans for the arena are scheduled for the week of 9 p.m. at the Lincoln school in Shoshone.

Saturday's schedule includes 4-11 and PFA livestock judging contest and 4-11 and TFA judging of quality of animals. A 4-11 style dress review and the PFA special demonstration also, are scheduled. The arena meeting and a riding club jamboree are planned for Saturday night. Glenn Perry sitting and showing of horse, beef and lambs were under way Friday. Both fairs conclude Saturday.

Kennedy Says U.S. Will Have Crises Like Viet Nam Always

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 7 (AP)—U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy predicted yesterday the United States would experience crises such as Viet Nam periodically. Kennedy made his remarks upon arrival here yesterday for a preview tour of the John F. Kennedy traveling exhibit.

"We will have these kinds of crises," the attorney general said, "whether it be in the Caribbean, Berlin or Asia because we will never really solve our problems."

Kennedy was greeted by several hundred persons when he arrived at John Hopkins airport and was escorted to a side door to reach the car of Mayor Ralph Locher.

Typhoon Shrieks Across Islands

MANILA, Philippines, Aug. 7 (AP)—Typhoon Ida shrieked across the northern Philippine Islands today with winds up to 150 miles an hour and dumped torrential rains on Manila and the rich tobacco provinces to the north.

No casualties were reported in the first hours.

Most communications circuits were knocked out in northern Luzon, the major island in the archipelago.

Ida was the second typhoon to bludgeon the Manila region this summer. Last June Typhoon Winona killed more than 100 persons and caused damage estimated at 30 to 40 million dollars.

Automation Seed

By now just about everybody has had a good laugh over the recommendation of the "Ad hoc committee on the triple revolution" that every American should qualify for an adequate, guaranteed, lifetime income simply by virtue of being born, whether he works or not.

This was only one of several suggestions recently put forward by this group of economists, educators, writers and intellectuals by way of solving the social problems of our time.

The idea may be revolutionary but it is far from novel. Radicals of the last century dreamed about it. British philosopher Bertrand Russell discussed the possibility about the time of World War I.

Automation, however, has removed the idea from the realm of fuzzy fantasy and threatens to place it squarely in front of us as a fact in the much-too-near future.

According to the committee, the cybernetic (automation) revolution has broken the traditional income-through-job link. If society is to fully realize the potential good of automation, they say, a guaranteed income is the only way that "the quarter-of-the-nation now-dispossessed and soon to be dispossessed by lack of employment can be brought within the abundant society."

In other words, if people—through no fault of their own—have no incomes with which to qualify as consumers, then they must be provided with those incomes as a matter of necessity, if not of right. Else, automation could turn into a curse, dooming large segments of the population to poverty.

Already we view it as simple humanity for those unable to work to be supported, at least on the existence level, out of the public treasury.

Already we consider it only just for oldsters to receive minimum retirement incomes, even if they may not have contributed to a pension fund during their working years.

But we feel it is somehow un-American—certainly counter to all human history, if not the very laws of nature—to talk about giving money to able-bodied people who haven't done anything to "earn" it.

Yet already many thousands are having their earning careers cut short by automation while still in their prime. What of them? Re-education is a partial answer, but what if the jobs they are being retrained for today are automated tomorrow?

More importantly, what of the millions of young people of tomorrow who will never even begin to earn because there will just be no need for them in an economy run by machines and a small elite of humans?

If the seeds are correct, growing numbers of nonworking human beings will somehow have to be supported from birth to death—on a level far above that of the public dole—whether they—or we—like it or not.

How this can be done is really a minor problem compared to the social implications of the cybernetic revolution. What the world may be like with whole generations enabled to live lives of complete leisure is something we can scarcely imagine.

It could work the greatest transformation of human society since the discovery of agriculture. But right now, Utopia looks pretty frightening. Maybe that's why we laugh.

HOW SWEET IT IS

One may argue, as many governments seem prone to do, that the tens of billions of dollars in foreign aid disposed of by the United States all over the world since World War II proceeded ultimately from our own self-interest. To expect thanks for all this money is just another indication of American naivete, if not hypocrisy.

Even so, it's nice to be thanked once in a while, and any expression of gratitude from abroad, however restrained, is such a rare event that it bears repeating.

Noting that U. S. aid to Britain, which began with lend-lease in 1940, is now virtually ended, The Economist of London recently wrote:

"The United States has given Britain 8.7 billion dollars since the war. It would be hard to imagine an European state in America's postwar position taking such a long and broad view of its interest."

"Now that Western Europe, including Britain, is prospering, the least we can do is to pay tribute to the relative and partner who nursed us back to self-earned health, both when our very life was in danger and when we were being debilitated by convalescence."

Thank you, Economist!

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TILLY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Frequently, someone forgets about the lobbyists and takes an interest in the interest in what is best for the citizenry. Thus, passage is virtually assured of the so-called "Wilderness bill," which will immediately preserve more than nine million acres of land in its natural state at an annual cost to the taxpayers of a thin dime.

Currently, the bill is in a house of horrors, and there undoubtedly will be minor changes made in the legislation passed last week by the house.

But the basic premise of the bill will remain: wilderness is a part of the nation's primitive land against exploitation by business interests seeking a fast buck.

REAL WILDERNESS—More than three years, the bill was fought bitterly by ranchers, miners, lumbermen and oilmen. Would-be amusement park entrepreneurs wept that it would bar them from earning an honest living, including caviar and champagne. Contractors testified the wilderness areas would be a great place to dump macadam roads so that tourists could speed through them and throw their trash.

I am not buying the bleats of some of the bleeding hearts that all business interests are predatory, but it is a fact that the bill would bar them from being so. Under the bill's provisions, there would be no permanent roads, no auto travel, and no commercial establishments. Crazy as it is, it is now permitted to be continued only if it is proved necessary in areas where the use of airplanes and motor vehicles is now established, there would be no changes.

CHANGING MIND—In pushing the bill, the conservationists talked the kind of horse sense that can't be answered. This was that the United States is rapidly running out of primitive land and that if at least part of this land was not sealed off instantly it would be lost forever to commercial interests.

After three years, one of those congressmen who had the guts to admit the conservationists had something there was Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D., Colo., chairman of the house interior committee. At one point, Aspinall refused to call a meeting of his committee because he was not opposed to the bill, but he finally allowed he was willing to discuss the matter, and when the house passed the bill it was Aspinall who managed the job. Fittingly, both Democrats and Republicans made speeches praising his statesmanship in working out a compromise.

TOTAL COST: 10 CENTS—Chief item in that compromise requires the agriculture or interior departments to get congressional approval before areas can be added to the wilderness system. About the size of the state of Colorado, the bill's provisions, no land has to be purchased; the areas involved are already federally-owned. But the secretaries of agriculture and interior are required to file a report annually to congress on the status of the system. Unless point of view, which will come to five cents for each acre.

AN ALL-NEGRO PARTY

The formation of an all-Negro political party in Michigan, the Freedom Now Party, has excited some candidates for governor, congress and the legislature on the ballot this fall, is a paradox for a country in the throes of trying to shake off the chains of segregation which in one way or another binds us all.

Some of the all-Negro party's supporters are farmers, or any other such group, an all-Negro party seems to us a backward step, more particularly because it represents an attempt to segregate by race.

On the practical side, the Freedom Now Party will draw whatever strength it is able to muster principally by weakening candidates of the major parties who stand most for what it itself supports, and who could not possibly be elected through major instrumentalities. An all-Negro party, even if it elected candidates here and there, can hardly expect to become such a major political instrument, and to that extent its elected candidates would be a little less effective.

The Negro American has in our opinion much more to gain by extending his influence in the political parties that, faulty as they are, by and large actually work. The political party in this country has always been a kind of broad consensus among millions of people of many kinds; and if the consensus has been derelict toward the Negro community—as it has been—that is not to say that there is less promise in improving it than in quitting it. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch

THIS IS CONSERVATIVE

Is it possible that the supposedly conservative John Birch society has been infiltrated by wild-eyed, radical spenders?

In the recent campaign against increasing government spending, deficit and other things, the Birchers ran up an $84,612 deficit in 1963. Nothing, of course, that couldn't have been wiped out by a little fiscal responsibility—particularly when their income was being tripled. So what happened in 1963? The Birchers nearly tripled the size of their deficit—to $250,054. And they ran this far into the red despite the fact that their income increased about 30 per cent, from $78,716 to $102,555.

All we can say is that if this is conservatism, it would seem safer to attack with those comparative ultra-conservatives now in power in Washington. For the same two years, they held their purse strings tight—despite real productivity and there around the world—about four per cent.

We try to take a reasonable attitude about spending, but you must draw a line somewhere. Triple your deficit in a year when your income is up 30 per cent? Sounds a bit un-American. —Denver Post

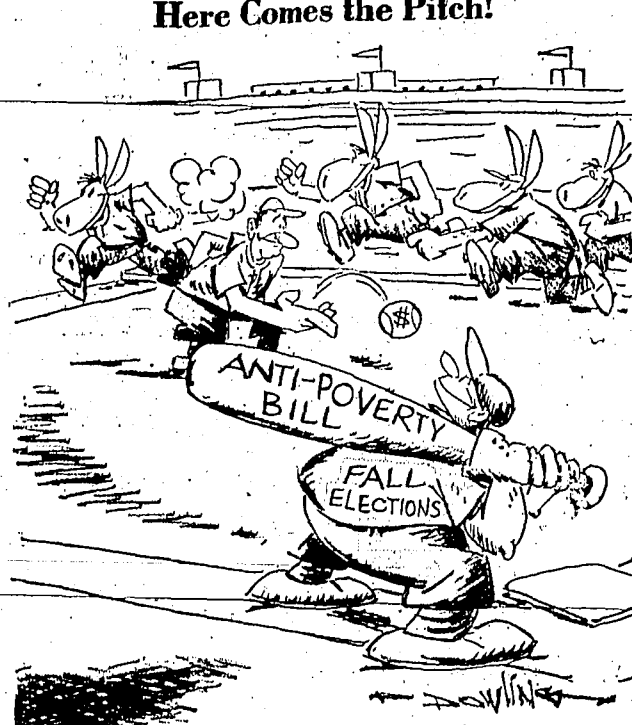

MORE SECURITY

Railroads have been shaking off the palsy which gripped them for several years, coincident with the economic malaise. They are now aggressive in getting business shippers to get back business lost to other forms of transportation. Now some of them are branching out into different lines of business. The Kansas City Southern, for example, has been investing in some non-transportation lines of business. One railroad, the old Minneapolis and St. Louis, sold its rail system to the NorthWestern and now operates M&ST Industries. Now the big Western Union, which has low earnings on its huge investment, is branching out. It has bargained to buy an oil pipeline company and is acquiring a big chunk of a big estate firm with properties between Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas. Going east, the new and resolute morality is developing in the world which lessens the danger of a major war.

"This new morality of mankind is nowhere more manifest than in the growing respect for the peace-keeping and peace-making purposes of the United States."

MARK OF DISTINCTION

American education is suffering from a bad case of "college or bust." The unspoken, but flexible rule is that everyone headed for college is a decent fellow, a credit to his parents and an honor to the nation. Everyone else is some kind of creep, a failure, a loser, a person to be made as low militarily as possible for a backward child. —Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Editor's note: Pot Shots, whose columns normally occupy this space, is on vacation. The Pot Shots column will be resumed when he returns.

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—In a memorable scene from the musical "Oyay," a group of veteran strippers attempt to explain some of the tricks of the trade to a newcomer in their midst.

It is not enough, they sing, for a young lady merely to undress upon the stage. To reach the top of this highly competitive field, you gotta have a gimmick.

"The same thing is true in a number of other fields, quite notably the rock 'n' roll music field. The ability to produce a catchy sound will no longer procure a random audience."

Patrons of that art are now demanding a gimmick, and I'm afraid the young practitioners in this country are failing behind in this department. They are permitting their counterparts overseas to steal the laurels.

Everyone is familiar with the thunderous success of the Beatles, who conquered both sides of the Atlantic by the simple expedient of combing their hair with their own hands.

Coming along behind them in that pursuit are such other European marvels as the Eggheads, who have bald pate; the Animals, who are afflicted to resemble wild beasts; and the Undertakers, who undertake to simulate the funeral dress and mien of the professional mortician.

There is no reason why we in America should sit idly by and let these foreigners overshadow us. We must strive to beat them at their own game.

As a starter, I am asking volunteers to come forward and join me in the formation of a sensational new musical group called the Scubas.

The letters of "SCUBA," as you know, stand for "Self Control Underwater." Which explains the gimmick. When giving a concert, this group will wear skin-diving equipment.

I have in mind a quartet. During vocal numbers we will accompany ourselves on two Spanish guitars, a set of drums and a snorkel.

Costuming alone, however, may not be enough to win the audiences away from the established favorites. I have therefore devised a second gimmick to increase the Scuba's appeal.

Immediately after the first number we will haul a big glass tank onto the stage and do the rest of the program under water. And that's that.

An encore, the Scubas will switch to electric guitars and swim.

At home, the Chinese reds are preaching to the people that money cannot buy happiness. True happiness, they say, can come only from fulfilling the needs of the communist revolution and unity must be a way of life.

Abroad, among the underdeveloped nations where they seek influence, the Chinese are lumping the United States and the Soviet Union in the same bucket and warning that Soviet aid simply is another form of neo-colonialism which can make its recipients subject to Soviet domination.

This is one side of the Soviet-Russia quarrel in which economically the Chinese have been at heavy disadvantage. In a recent Asian economic conference, a Chinese spokesman declared that the Russians offer no respect for the independence and sovereignty of African and Asian nations in their economic dealings and "flagrantly interfere in their internal affairs."

The Russians cut off the last of their economic and technical aid to China in 1960.

"That heavy blow, plus mistakes committed in the name of the 'great leap forward' sent the Chinese economy into a tailspin from which it is just now recovering. Even now, an annual three per cent or less increase in Chinese economic growth barely keeps up with the population."

The Chinese have succeeded in barring the Russians on the grounds that they were not an Asian country.

With this as a background, a Red Chinese offer of a loan to Pakistan is of special interest—of interest also as further evidence of Pakistan's economic ties with the West.

Pakistan has announced it will accept the "generous offer" which will be used to pay for imports of machinery, cement and sugar mills.

It is another in a long list of agreements concluded between the Red Chinese and the Pakistanis who, since 1947, have received more than 4.5 billion dollars in U.S. military and economic aid and continue to receive it.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Memory has a strange arithmetic. It adds to grief; it divides the future and past without subtracting anything from the present.

Memory gives a thousand lives to a moment of ecstasy or gloom. You can live it over and over again, as often as you want.

But memory has its limits. It does that with sorrow. It helps soften the edges of sadness or disappointment. It may even enable us to chuckle later at an event or feeling that threatened to break our heart at the time of happening.

You have quite a treasury of recollections if you can look back and remember when:

It took a wife with long hair and a thousand kisses to get a party. Now it takes a wife with short hair and a half.

Opportunity was the key word in America—not security. All most Americans wanted was a chance to show what they could do.

The envy of the neighborhood was the kid whose father had brought home a spiked German helmet from World War I.

A dude was a fellow who wore high-button shoes.

It was a mark of affluence to own a double-breasted suit to a party. Now it's a mark of affluence to own a single-breasted suit.

The nickel glass of beer had become a casualty of inflation, but in every city in the land you could get a steaming cup of coffee for five cents.

Reformers argued that business officers were not fit to co-locate with the poor, and that girls who worked in them were found to have their morals ruined.

In saloons, a man had to be careful how he stood with his feet on the floor, because if he slipped he might get it stuck in a cupholder.

You didn't amount to much at the local barber shop unless they kept your own shaving mug and bearing your name in gold letters.

There were still politicians running for office who could boast that they had been born in a log cabin. As a matter of fact, no man born in a hospital has yet been elected U.S. president.

You could enjoy the music of "Old Black Joe" without feeling you were a racial bigot.

You could get a good white shirt on sale for a dollar. A blue shirt cost less.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

SHILLYVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 7.—When a reputable Negro organization's leaders urged abandonment of Harlem demonstrations and a shift in activity to getting out the vote, they were carefully watching a pilot program in this state. It's worth a look because the techniques could be decisive.

In the 1960 election on the Democratic ticket, Taylor presidential ticket did not win the Farm Belt, lost the entire Pacific Coast, all but one of the Mountain states, and even with Mr. Johnson's support won Texas by only 45,000 votes.

The majority party? A giant misconception arises. The Democratic vote in the presidency in the nation's big cities only, and in the South.

Although persistently featured as the majority party, the party's base is amazingly narrow. Victory arrives with a trading formula, not by a majority of the national vote. In fact, FDR is the only Democrat throughout this century who ever got a majority of the national vote. Wilson did not, nor Truman, nor Kennedy.

Note this carefully: If a Democratic candidate holds the 146 electoral votes in the South, he needs only 124 additional to be president. The direct result of the Sino-Soviet quarrel.

This spring the Soviets made heavy new commitments to Egypt, Algeria and India. More aid went also to Kenya, Iran, Yemen and Indonesia.

In return for its stepped up aid to Indonesia, the Soviet Union received Indonesian support for a demand for a reopening of the debate over whether the Soviet Union should be permitted to attend next year's meeting of African and Asian leaders.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. HERNIMAN, M.D.

Q—Are injection treatments for hernia of the groin successful?

A—The injection of an irritant chemical into hernias was tried about 1900, and abandoned by all top flight surgeons as an unsafe procedure.

Q—My hernia, 20, has multiple hernia and can't move her hands or feet. Her doctor is giving her Doriden pills to relax her so she can sleep. Do these pills contain any narcotics? Is it dangerous for her to take them?

A—Doriden, a brand of glute-thimide, is a habit-forming drug that should be used only under close medical supervision.

Q—What causes a ruptured diaphragm? Will an operation correct the condition?

A—A diaphragmatic or hiatal hernia is a protrusion of part of the stomach through a weakened diaphragm. Many persons have a mild form of this hernia, that causes them little or no discomfort. In others, persistent pain may be necessary for relief. The operation to repair this type of hernia has been greatly improved in recent years.

Another form of treatment, the gastric feeding tube, has been used to treat simple hernias with excellent results. This treatment is still considered experimental.

JUMP-OVERALL BID

HINTS USER'S HAND

The weak, jump-overall was invented by me back in 1932 for use in the Lenz-Culbertson match. It is very popular in expert circles today, although I have lost some of my enthusiasm for it.

I still play it with some partners.

Rockefeller Will Support Goldwater

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has joined the Sen. Barry Goldwater for president campaign and indicated he may actively stump the nation for the GOP standard bearer.

Rockefeller, outspoken pre-convention political antagonist of the Arizona conservative, was roundly applauded yesterday when he told powerful New York state Republican county chairmen he was supporting the national ticket of Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, R., N. Y., for president and vice president.

The governor also made a strong appeal for party unity during the closed door meeting. "Sure, Rockefeller said he'd support the ticket," Republican state chairman Fred A. Young told newsmen after the two-hour meeting.

"That means he'll go out on the stump," Young added. The chairman noted that four years ago Rockefeller made 83 speeches for GOP presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

Methodists in Lincoln Have No Minister

RICHFIELD, Aug. 6—Plans to continue services in the Methodist church with guest ministers were advised by the Rev. Charles W. Easley, district superintendent, Boise, in a letter to Albert Kelley, layman of the local church.

The letter stated Richfield would have to continue without a pastor for the Community Methodist church since the Rev. Richard P. Burdon has been asked to remain in missionary work at Kiliwe, Congo.

The Rev. Mr. Burdon had been scheduled to arrive in Idaho this month to fill his appointment as minister for both Richfield and Rhodene Methodist churches. He had been called back to America because of disputing and perilous conditions for missionaries in Africa, but prevailed on the church board to allow his family to remain in missionary work.

Bishop A. Raymond Grant, Portland, informed the Rev. Mr. Easley there is no available minister at present to fill the Lincoln county vacancy.

Ex-Fairfield Man Hurt in Alaska

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 7—Donald Krahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Krahn, Fairfield, was seriously injured when he was caught in an avalanche of rocks near Juneau, Alaska. Krahn was on a boat hunting expedition, his parents reported today.

It was about four hours after the accident Saturday that his hunting companions were able to rescue him. He received a broken vertebra and a punctured lung from broken ribs and is reported recovering in a Juneau hospital, according to word received by his parents.

Krahn, a former resident, and his wife reside in Juneau, where both are employed.

Man, 26, Tries to Play Lawman, Is Arrested for Impersonating Officer

HEREFORD, Tex., Aug. 7 (AP)—Garrett B. Trappnell, 26, probably always wanted to be a lawman. He probably played cops and robbers as a boy, using a toy pistol and policeman's badge.

But the highway patrol thought he was a little old for the game yesterday and they jailed him for it.

It wouldn't have been so bad except Trappnell set up operations on heavily traveled U.S. 66 near the Texas-New Mexico border and began fining motorists on the spot.

Using a cheap tin constable's badge and a dime-store pistol for effect, he parked his car at the side of the road and put some portable flashing red lights on it.

Then he flagged down motorists and gave them a stern dressing down for speeding. Some he fined. Others he "let go" on $15 bond.

First reports of the strange constable came last week when a motorist from California complained to the highway patrol in Albuquerque that he had been stopped near San Jon, N.M., by an officer who said he was G. B. Trappnell, Constable No. 116 of Garrett Township, N.M.

The motorist said he paid a $15 bond.

Officers checked and found out there was no such township and no such constable.

Later in the week at least three other incidents of false ticketing were reported.

Finally, a truck driver tipped officers yesterday about a speed trap which highway patrolman A. L. Mitchell investigated. He found Trappnell sitting in his car near Vega, Tex., close to the New Mexico border.

Trappnell was dressed in a khaki uniform and had an abundant supply of cheap constable and deputy badges. A rubber stamp to make citations look legal, and a "Dick Tracy" type toy pistol.

Delays Kill Hopes for New Launch

HOUSTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—Continued delays in the nation's billion-dollar Project Gemini have killed U.S. hopes of launching two astronauts into orbit around Earth aboard a single space capsule this year.

The three-orbit voyage of spacemen Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young, the inaugural manned flight in the "second generation" Gemini program, will be delayed until early 1965, informed sources told United Press International.

Officially, the federal space agency's manned space craft center near Houston is sticking gamely to its contention that the Grissom-Young flight still is scheduled for the fourth quarter of this year—meaning sometime between Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

But a glum official admitted privately that the agency's goal is "impossible."

He said the shot probably would be rescheduled for next January, but other sources expected an even further slip, into February or perhaps March.

Flyer

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 7 (AP)—Jenkins Seaborn Martin, 36, was fined $1,000 and costs yesterday for flying while intoxicated.

He was arrested for buzzing the Galveston beach Wednesday and knocking over a beach umbrella while landing.

Street Work Is Discussed At Richfield

RICHFIELD, Aug. 7—Richfield village board members made several rulings, arrangements for oiling street repairs on Lincoln avenue and heard a report on pumping water expense at the August meeting.

A $5 deposit will be required on all future water connections retroactive to June 1 and $3.50 per day is the rate charged for use of the county sewer.

Approximately 2,500 gallons of penetration oil will be needed for street improvement through arrangements with Peter Klewitz and Sons company.

Water pumping report showed 21,290,725 gallons of water pumped in the past year at the rate of 3601 cents per thousand gallons, plus cash expense of $6,185.67, depreciation of $1,301.20, and $187.60 tank repair amortization for a total of $7,765.01.

Order for bulbs for Christmas lights was approved.

Phone Company Has Bomb Scare In Michigan

DETROIT, Aug. 7 (AP)—A police patrol continued early today outside the Michigan Bell Telephone company building, which was the subject of an anonymous bomb scare tip to United Press International yesterday.

Police said an all-night patrol was scheduled despite the fact a "top-to-bottom" search of the building failed to uncover any bomb. Employees of the company were not evacuated from the building after an anonymous caller told UPI on the telephone to have a man at the building because "it's not going to be there much longer."

A search of the building by special investigators from the Detroit police department shortly after the call revealed no apparent danger.

Wendell Man to Work at Mission

WENDELL, Aug. 7—Dr. and Mrs. Harold P. Holsinger left this week for Cimado Mission in Arizona where they will spend a month.

Dr. Holsinger has volunteered for work during that period at the mission so one of the three doctors at the Indian mission may have a vacation.

The Indian mission, sponsored by the Presbyterian church, is the largest national mission hospital of the denomination and is located on the Navaho Indian reservation. In addition to the 45-bed hospital unit there is a boarding school and church.

Dr. Holsinger said there are an average of 100 out-patients per day at the hospital clinic.

Hammer Used In Assault; Man Is Charged

IDAHO FALLS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Police filed an assault charge against an Idaho man yesterday. In connection with an alleged attack on another man with a 10-ounce hammer.

Beaten was Charles May, 28, Idaho Falls. Charged was Lawrence Draper, 54.

Police said May was attacked in an alley behind a downtown bar. They said Draper told them he had been looking for his wife and found her with May.

ATTENTION! STATE AND GENERAL AGENTS FOR HEALTH AND ACCIDENT HOSPITALIZATION AND LIFE INSURANCE

We are looking for a top-shelf man to represent our company in your state for Hospitalization, Sickness and Accident Insurance. The man we are seeking is now in the H and A business but unsatisfied with his present company, due to lack of opportunity to expand. We want the type who won't be satisfied unless he can see $50,000.00 or more, net income in three or four years from his agency.

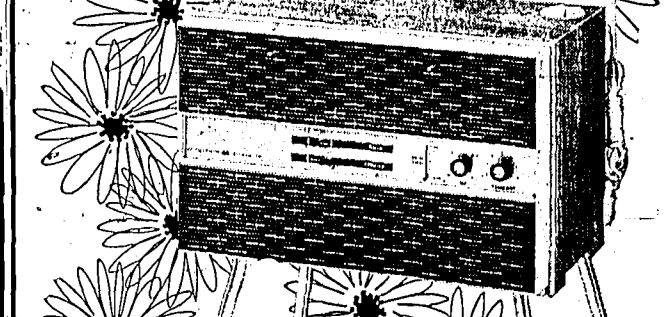

From a company standpoint we are issuing policies that set, rather than meet, competition in our field. We offer the type of commission schedule that is conducive to building a second agency.

We are not looking for an employee, but we are looking for a self-employed, independent contractor who can fill the bill with 100% cooperation from the home office.

If you are the man we're looking for please give us a brief resume of yourself. Address it to the Minnesota Protective Association, 730 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55403. Attention T. K. Shaver.

T. F. C. of C. Has Vacation Brochures

For people whose vacations still may be ahead of them, there are brochures and tourist information brochures on many states available at no cost at the Chamber of Commerce office.

"We are still having lots of tourists stop at our information booth at the Perrine bridge," reports William Grange, secretary-manager of the office. "However, most of the local tourist data we are giving away now seems to be the Yellowstone material. I'm sure vacationers must be going other places, and we would like to have material that will be helpful to them," Grange said.

Anyone planning to attend the New York World's fair should pick up a copy of the hotel and motel accommodation and rate book at the chamber office, he said.

Burley Plans Pig Scramble On Saturday

BURLEY, Aug. 7.—Interest is mounting in the pig scramble to be held at 5:30 p.m. Saturday at the Burley Junior high school football field, for boys and girls in Cassia and Minidoka counties between the ages of 6 and 12.

The event is sponsored by the local merchants' association of the Chamber of Commerce and is a part of the merchants' "Hot Wild," back-to-school sales promotion, with E. E. (Bud) Bringer, chairman.

All children are reminded that they must present the official entry slip which they obtained from a sponsoring merchant at the football field. There is no admission charge. The public is invited to view the event from the grandstand, stated Bringer.

Participants will be placed in various age groups and the contest is open to both boys and girls. "The pigs will not be greased," Bringer said. "The winner pigs will be released from chutes and the children will attempt to catch the pigs as they run across the football field. Arrangements have been made with the Burley Livestock Commission company to purchase winner pigs to be delivered Saturday. Each participating merchant has displayed a banner in his store window.

Sponsoring merchants of the "Hot Wild" event are Albertson's, Alexander's, Big-O Tire store, Burley Motor, Burley Paint and Wallpaper, Cassia National Bank, Cassia County Store, Dayley's Shoes, Fabric Center, Farmer's Equity, Greenwald's, Hardy Bros., Hudson's, Idaho Bank and Trust, Idaho Department Store, Karl's Shoes, K&H Radio station, K&H Radio, Lumber company, M. Proposals must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the regulations of Section 10-2-1 of the Idaho Statutes and conditions of the Idaho Standard Specifications for Highway Construction, edition of 1961.

Plans, specifications, forms of contract, proposal forms, and other information may be obtained at the office of the Department of Highways, Boise, Idaho and from the District Engineer at Pocatello, Idaho.

A charge of ten dollars ($10.00) will be made for each set of plans, payable to be made by check, payable to the Department of Highways, State of Idaho.

The right is reserved to reject all proposals, or to accept the proposal or proposals deemed best for the State of Idaho.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by an acceptable proposal guarantee in an amount not less than five percent of the total amount of the proposal. This guarantee must be in the form of a certified check or a cashier's check drawn on an Idaho bank, made payable to the Department of Highways, State of Idaho.

It is the purpose of the Board of Highway Directors to build the project with good construction. Necessary equipment and labor for the project will be furnished by the contractor.

Dated at Boise, Idaho, this 7th day of August, 1964.

Board Says Contract Is Illegal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (U)—The national labor relations board (NLRB) today struck down a provision of a contract between two major coal operators and the United Mine Workers union as a violation of the ban on "hot cargo" agreements.

The board declared illegal a contract clause requiring unionized operators to pay double royalties to the UMW welfare fund for every ton of coal they handled, but was not mined by UAW members.

The agreement provides that each operator under contract with the coal union would pay 40 cents a ton into the fund for every ton of soft coal it produced. But an 80 cent a ton royalty has levied on each ton of coal acquired by the operator from a firm that was not under contract with the UMW.

The board ruled 4-1 that this clause was an "implied agreement that signatory operators will refrain from purchasing coal from non-signatory operators."

Idaho was 158 million pounds. However, milk production increased two per cent from May to June this year in contrast to the 1962-63 average which shows a one per cent decrease for the same period.

Police Asked To Look for Pretty Miss

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 7 (U)—Police were asked yesterday to be on the lookout for a missing Miss Scotland, Doreen Swan, who they said made a telephone call from Salt Lake City to Aberdeen, Scotland Monday and has not been heard from since.

The British consulate in Denver told Mayor J. Bracken Lee it had a message it wanted to relay to Miss Swan from her family.

Police Capt. Dewey J. Filly said Miss Swan came to the United States for the Miss Universe pageant in Miami Beach, but failed to enter the competition "for reasons unknown to us at the present time."

"We've checked every place here she might have gone to seek help," Filly said. "All we know is that she is a pretty girl." He said police did not know Miss Swan's age or any physical description they might use in locating her.

$100 Stolen From Steel Firm in Buhl

BUHL, Aug. 7.—Between $50 and $100 in paper currency and small change was reported stolen at Langdon Structural Steel company, 223 Broadway avenue south, sometime late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, reports Buhl Police Chief Charles Durban.

Entrance was gained by prying open a window on the south side of the building, he said. Burglars with the use of a sledge hammer and chisel broke into the company's safe and took the money. Durban noted the robbers apparently were seeking only money as they left power tools lying around untouched. The break-in was discovered at 8 a.m. Thursday by an employee, George Ayers.

"This is the second safe burglary here within a three-week period. Erb Brothers Market was burglarized in July with $1,800 in paper currency stolen.

Local police officials were also investigating a break-in on Thursday at Sunset, Bowdoin, Truck Lane. Entrance was gained into the building by breaking a window of the storeroom located on the west side of the building. However, nothing appeared to be missing, according to Durban, just malicious vandalism done with boxes torn open and contents strewn around.

Housewife Is Found Dead

BOZEMAN, Mont., Aug. 7 (U)—A young Bozeman housewife was found slain yesterday in her trailer home in West Bozeman.

The body of Mrs. Carolyn Elaine Neely, 30, was found by her father, Walter Dorman. Gallatin county Sheriff Con McGilg said the woman was beaten and shot. Coroner Alexander Schumacher said an inquest would be held.

Mrs. Neely was last seen alive about 11 p.m. Wednesday when she was entertaining at a women's club party in the Bozeman home of her parents.

When found in the trailer, her 24-year-old son was unharmed in a play pen.

The victim's husband is enrolled in an electronics training school in Anaconda.

Nazi Killer Surrenders To Germany

HANOVER, Germany, Aug. 7 (U)—Fugitive Nazi killer Hans Walter Zech-Nennitich today surrendered to West German authorities, the Lower Saxony justice ministry announced.

"I feel I am innocent. That's why I came back," Zech-Nennitich was quoted as saying.

A former SS cavalry officer, Zech-Nennitich escaped April 22 from a Braunshweig prison where he was serving a four-year sentence for participating in the mass killings of 5,200 Polish Jews. A war hero he knew from Adolf Hitler's days helped him flee to Switzerland, a high plane, later turned up in Egypt, and thereafter was rumored to be elsewhere in Africa.

Garden Wedding Rites Unite Area Couple

BULL, Aug. 7 — Catherine Gaddler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Brailford, Bull, exchanged nuptial vows with R. Gary Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Wright, Filer, in a garden ceremony July 4 at the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. Delmar M. Talley, pastor of the First Christian church, officiated at the ceremony. A floral basket arrangement enhanced the garden setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a slim gown of imported silk lined with a modified, long-sleeved, elbow-length, scooped neckline, and a slightly controlled, double skirt with a chapel-length train. The gown was elegantly accented with Venice coral embroidery edging the neckline, sleeves, skirt bands and completely edging the train.

A petal spray of seed pearls topped with a silk rose released her bouffant shoulder-length veil of sheer illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of alstroemeria and ivy encircling a white orchid adorned with wide satin bows and streamers.

The bride's jewelry was a cultured pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and a pearl ring belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Matthew Devine, Winnemka, Ill.

Beatrice Brailford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an empire styled, satiny, long-sleeved gown with matching accessories. She carried a nosegay of Father Reed daisies tied with flowing white satin streamers.

Charles A. Wright, Filer, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. William Watt, Bull, was soloist, accompanied by Patricia Decker, Filer.

The bride's mother wore a pink linen afternoon dress with a matching jacket. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a green and white dinner dress.

Negro Manikins Show Clothes For Children

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (AP)—Even before newly integrated schools open their doors this fall, Negro and white manikin youngsters will be making books together in department store windows displaying back-to-school wardrobes.

"Using children in these and Christmas windows later on is a natural and charming way to begin integrating them," says Harold Quinn, sales manager for D. G. Williams.

His firm with its two manikin factories as well as L. A. Darling company, Greenwich, Conn., and Fairplastics Manikins are among the national organizations stepping up its pace to meet a much-needed demand for Negro figures.

Recently one of the smartest of the most elegant manikin and costume emporiums, Bergdorf-Goodman in New York announced it has taken a Negro manikin and substituted it in its manikin family.

They will make their debut Aug. 27 as nursery school tots in a six-window back-to-school display along the fifth avenue.

Last January Bergdorf's department store, New York, N.Y., pioneered with the unheralded appearance of several Negro figures in windows showing higher-priced ladies ready to wear.

The decision to use Negro manikins, said window manager Arthur Fischer, originated among the store's personnel.

"It was a pressure, influence or suggestion from racial groups or outside individuals."

Andrew Goodman, president of Bergdorf's, says response to his announced intention to integrate the store's windows has been generally favorable. "There were three anonymous 'crank notes,' Goodman said.

Commissioned to originate the new manikin, said Goodman, his last year, Mary Brown's studios are now concentrating on styling Negro boys and girls up to age 8. By next year her artists expect to have window facsimiles of Negro youngsters through their teen years.

Mrs. Brown says London is her best customer. Among 40 or 60 cities which have already ordered or indicated a future interest in Negro manikins are major firms, the southernmost is St. Louis.

Paris Fashions Show Bulky Skirts, Tops

PARIS, Aug. 7 (AP)—Dior's wide, bulky "peasant skirt," silhouette, shown in Paris, is the newest thing to hit fashion since the sack. Besides it, all else is evolution, derivation, or renaissance.

"There's been a lot of longing for the cool grace of the '30s in fashion lately—Dior's Marc Bohan did it himself last season—but the 'new new look' as some experts called it Thursday looks far better. It's fresh, midcentury, not a rehash."

Long, widening jackets float on the bulky skirts. Raglan shoulders are soft and supple, not wide, not narrow. Sleeves are long, loose, and tubular, without cuffs.

The skirts are shirred onto a narrow fitted yoke. Loose, sweaty tops can be tucked in, or worn over. There's always a ribbony belt.

Small women can wear the swingy skirts with a little basque skirt. Or they can take to the tube, Dior's handy alternate silhouette.

"Tubie" has been a helpful word in fashion lately, and it looks about to push "A-line" into the background. Cardin's straight dresses last season had the shape and so have lots of others.

Tubular suits had double-buttoned short jackets and wrapped tubular skirts. Tubular coats buttoned high. Tubular dresses had capacious high round necklines, raglan shoulders and the long, loose, tubular sleeve.

The bulky silhouette only seemed to work out with a two-piece look; long, loose jacket, or short coat, wide skirt.

Miss Rodeo for Caldwell Named

CALDWELL, Aug. 7 (AP)—Harriet Sharp, an attractive 21-year-old Caldwell, has been named Miss Rodeo for Caldwell.

Sharp, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Guy Sharp, has completed her senior year at the University of Idaho. She is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH AMOS

Teri Finn, Amos Recite Nuptial Vows

Teri A. Finn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Finn, Twin Falls, became the bride of Kenneth Amos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin P. Amos, Ore., June 30 at the Twin Falls church, Twin Falls.

The Rev. Ernest Hasselblad officiated during the double ring ceremony before a large spray of white gladioli on the communion table.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of new de sole with a lace bodice, scoop neckline and long sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of pearl de sole roses.

She wore a single strand of pearls, a blue earring and a penny in her shoe. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses accented by cascading ivy.

Glenda Wickham was maid of honor and Sandra Hamedel and Karen Groves were bridesmaids. Each wore identical street length dresses of mint green de sole and carried small bouquets of feathers, white carnations backed by tulle and held by green satin ribbon.

Don Amos, Portland, Ore., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Robert E. Smith and Jerry Randolph.

Ringbearer was Albert Stansell, Homedale, cousin of the bride, who carried the rings on a heart-shaped pillow.

Traditional wedding music was played by Wayne Brackett, organist. Wayne Gangelman was soloist.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church basement. The bride's table was covered with white nylon flounces and decorated with white elegance carnations, eucalyptus and mock orange blossoms.

The guestbook table was decorated with white elegance carnations and mock orange blossoms with a small milkglass compote. Patricia Landring, who acted as the guestbook table.

Gifts were received by Lynn Borchers and Chris Hahn and were arranged by Janice Osborn, cousin of the bride, and Linda Martin, both Burbank, Calif.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Twin Falls high school. The bridegroom is a 1962 Twin Falls high school graduate and has attended the University of Idaho, Moscow, where he was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Amos chose a two-piece pink suit with a white rosebud corsage and pink accessories.

Churchill's Son-in-Law Badly Hurt

LONDON, Aug. 7 — Christopher Boone, 43, son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill, was thrown off a horse today, knocked unconscious and apparently seriously injured.

The husband of Mary Churchill, Sir Winston's youngest daughter, Boone was taking time off from his cabinet post as minister of agriculture to ride around a farm near Tunbridge Wells, 40 miles southeast of London.

Boone was taken unconscious to Pembury hospital, where X-rays showed he had suffered severe pelvic injuries.

Boone later recovered consciousness and arrangements were made to transfer him to the Royal Orthopedic hospital in Middlesex.

Boone, a former army captain, has been in the Conservative party cabinet of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Sir Alec Douglas-Home since 1960.

He married Mary Churchill in 1947. They have three sons and two daughters.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, August 7 — Born today, you love people—all kinds of people—with a great and abiding compassion that is your characteristic. At home in any kind of social work, you would quickly radiate to those who work with you your unusual capacity for love and understanding, and they in turn would realize that true leadership and true devotion to the cause of improving the condition of the human race lay in you.

Such a description makes it appear that you are all seriousness, all concern over others. But such is not the case. You have a quick and unusually sharp sense of humor, a ready wit with which to meet and conquer friends and foe alike. You are also one who enjoys physical activity, and it would not be surprising if sports were to become important to your happiness and well-being.

Not one to rise and fall emotionally, you can generally be counted upon to act in a certain way when given a certain condition or circumstance. This makes you very easy to live with and, in fact, lessens the care you must take in choosing a marriage partner. Let love be your guide, for you can adjust to almost any disposition.

Among those born on this date are: Ralph J. Bunche, American diplomat, race relations expert; Don Larsen, hero of the baseball diamond; Lawton B. Parker, portrait painter.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Saturday, Aug. 8 — Born today, you are by nature a healthy, happy, active person who feels most himself when "on the go." Unlike many of this type, however, you keep your mind as active as your body. Keenly alert to your surroundings, you have the ability to fit into the background, not being seen until just the right moment, which is the best strategy for learning much, revealing little.

Gifted with a business sense unusual in those of your general characteristics, you have every chance of becoming a success through the simple expedient of commercializing one of your enjoyable activities or a by-product of it.

Love in an attic is not for you. You are too fond of luxuries to be satisfied for long with love alone. This does not mean, however, that you would walk out on a marriage simply because your mate was not financially outstanding; what it does mean is that you have the gumption and the talent to begin bringing home at least part of the bacon yourself!

Among those born on this date are: Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, American author; Jesse Stuart, poet; Esther Williams, champion swimmer, actress, business woman.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, Aug. 9 — You can add lustre to your name merely by being at the right place at the right time today. If called upon for aid—respond!

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Listen well to the morning's sermon. Not everything you hear was meant for "the other fellow."

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Inject a reasonable amount of sentiment into practicality. Your recent work may be lacking "heart."

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Many agencies are at work to make this a good day for Scorpio. Make it worth their while by taking advantage of it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Give this day a well-focused intention from the start and its results will be tenfold. Know what you want!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Changes you've been waiting for may be about to appear. Prepare yourself for pleasant surprises.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — The sophisticated Aquarius may think morning worship not for him. His spirit will benefit if he gives up that notion!

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — A Sunday which could result in important mental strides for the Pisces who takes advantage of the books at hand.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Don't depend too strongly on appealing "feelings." You may not appeal to their reason, and that's what counts!

Taurus (April 21-May 21) — An excellent day for intellectual exercise. Visit the library and the museum; indulge in vital conversation with others. Grow!

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Timidity could keep you from participating in the experience of a lifetime! Call up your courage!

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A day for prudence. The Cancer who mistakes foolishness for bravery may have cause for regret.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — Democratic and Republican political leaders across the nation were divided today on whether President Johnson's decision to bomb North Viet Nam navy bases would be an issue in the campaign, although all indicated their support for the action.

A United Press International survey showed that most governors or state party chairmen felt that Johnson had no other choice except to order U. S. planes to strike against the communist PT boats after attacks on two U. S. destroyers.

Most Democrats indicated that Viet Nam would lose its place as the primary foreign policy issue for Republican candidates this fall. They said that most Americans considered the limited retaliatory attack necessary but prudent in the nuclear age.

While approving the attack, some Republican leaders said that it by no means would prevent them from questioning the U. S. role in South Viet Nam and throughout Southeast Asia between now and November.

Congressional Republican Chairman Philo Smith, said the "general

Decision on Viet Nam May Be Campaign Issue This Fall

foreign situation" would have to be included in the campaign. "The kind of foreign policy that makes such a situation Viet Nam develop is a valid campaign issue," he said.

Smith, a former governor, said Johnson's action was "not particularly a strong one," and still left the United States in a position of waiting to see what the Chinese and North Vietnamese would do next.

South Dakota Republican Chairman Leo Tenney said U. S. Asian policy definitely would be an issue because "we are still looking American boys over there over something which the administration has told us nothing."

Hay Swather Is Struck by Hazelton Car

HAZELTON, Aug. 7 — Damage was estimated at $1,000 to a 1964 Mercury driven by E. C. Montgomery, 60, Hazelton, after it struck the rear of a hay swather operated by Derwyn Musman, Eden, about 11:45 p.m. Wednesday on Tipperary road two miles south and one-fourth of a mile west of Eden.

Deputy Sheriff Gordon Newbury said both vehicles were travelling east when the Montgomery car struck the swather. Montgomery was not injured. The deputy estimated damage to the swather, owned by Eric Wegener and James Grant, both Eden, at about $250.

The deputy also investigated an accident at 11:40 p.m. Tuesday when a 1963 Chevrolet driven by Dennis Fowler, Kimberly, hit a cow on a county road one mile north of the Marlaugh grade.

The southbound car swerved as the driver tried to avoid hitting the cow, the deputy said, but the rear of the car struck the animal. Damage to the back door and fender was set at $300 by the deputy. The cow had to be killed.

The annual report of the city library was received and approved.

On July 1, 1963, there were 9,690 books in the library. During the year 287 were purchased and 325 donated, to make a total of 9,692 new books. There were 20 books lost and discarded, for a total of 10,344 books in the library as of July 1, 1964.

During the year 15,655 books were loaned through the library. Building permits were approved for Elmer Terry to erect a cinch black workshop near his residence; the Baptist church of Shoshone for a new church building; Ben Gomm to erect a greenhouse on his acreage.

Police Officer Bill J. Anderson made his monthly report.

Street repairs were discussed by the council with decision to be reached later.

3 Accidents Are Reported In Twin Falls

Twin Falls police investigated three accidents in the city Wednesday.

City police reported Sydney A. Thompson, 17, Buhl, was attempting to turn into a drive-in with his 1963 Pontiac at 10:43 p.m. on Addison avenue west when the vehicle was struck from the rear by a 1960 Chevrolet driven by Edward J. Tarter, 20, Twin Falls.

Tarter was cited for following too closely. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Chevrolet and $200 to the Pontiac.

Jimmy Mercer, 35, Jerome, parked a Checker Yellow cab at 3:44 p.m. in an alley off Shoshone street and the vehicle was damaged on the side by a pipe vice which was on a 1961 Ford pickup truck driven by Gary Hawkins, 25, route 1, which tried to pass the cab in the alley.

Damage was estimated at $40 to the taxi.

Jacqueline A. Mullins, 21, 252 Blue Lakes boulevard, attempted to back her 1963 Pontiac out of her driveway and the vehicle was struck on the side by a 1963 Edsel driven on Blue Lakes boulevard by Clifton C. Birchhead, 47, Twin Falls.

Damage was estimated at $15 to the Pontiac and $80 to the Edsel.

No injuries were reported in any of the accidents.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 — President Johnson has ruled out extra pay at the South Pole.

That was the effect of the chief executive's veto yesterday of a private relief bill which would have provided for overtime pay for Anthony F. Bernardo and Ambrose A. Cerillo, two navy department civilian employees assigned to McMurdo Island, Antarctica.

The two worked extra hours to complete their assignment at McMurdo, but because of a statutory ceiling on their basic pay they cannot be compensated for all of their extra hours.

Premier Wins Approval of His New Government

ROME, Aug. 7 — Premier Aldo Moro last night won final parliamentary approval of his new government on a platform of financial austerity at home and loyalty to Italy's Western allies.

Communists in the chamber of deputies booed when the 47-year-old Moro defended U. S. action in Viet Nam in a speech closing a four-day debate on his new left of center government.

In the domestic field, the premier charged that the communists were trying to lead workers on the path to unemployment through irresponsible labor agitation. He pledged to do all he could to stop the red menace.

Farmers in the Almo area have completed stacking their first crop of alfalfa hay and the greater share of wild hay is now stacked. The yield is exceptionally good this year.

Bert Erickson, Bridge, is working for Floyd Knight, Almo farmer, this summer. He also has assisted farmers in the area with hauling hay.

Alan Hardy and Byron Hardy, Oakley, contracted for the stacking of baled hay at the H. E. King ranch, Almo.

Danny Neddo and Fred Nye are hauling and stacking baled hay at the Dewayne Ward ranch, Almo.

Grasshoppers have been making havoc of many Richfield gardens with the result that much malnutrition spraying has been going on. This spray is credited with protecting the prize strawberry patch of Mrs. Hal Ross, Jr., West Richfield.

The harvest of early potatoes is in full swing at the Wesley Pink ranch, south of King Hill. Pink digs the spuds while it is cool in the early morning and then they are hauled to the sheds, where they are sorted for shipment. Pink hauls his potatoes to many stores in Magic Valley and has been in the potato business for many years.

Floyd Goss, Gooding, is in the King Hill community, threshing grain. He threshed at the Wesley Pink ranch, south of King Hill, on Friday. On Saturday he moved his machine to the Clark Chaffin ranch, and went to the Arthur Greer ranch this week.

Robert Haple, Muldoon, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Haple, and reporting on their band of sheep which is on grazing land at Muldoon. Thomas Haple, Glenns Ferry, returned with his nephew, Bob Haple, to Muldoon for a visit.

Myron J. Walker, general manager of the Nelson-Ricks creamery, said that the plant will be open again this week at the Richfield plant. A new cheese storage room is being considered in the expansion program.

Potato fields in the Big and Little Wood river valleys are looking good, according to County Agent Norman Warren. There are very few Colorado potato bugs. Warren said the only place he has found any of these pests is in his own family garden at the Warren ranch home near Broadford.

Sugar Beet Industry Chooses Controls to Boost Action

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7.—The U. S. beet sugar industry is meeting with Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D. N. C., of the house agriculture committee, offered to accept sugar beet acreage controls in 1965 as a means of facilitating action on sugar legislation this year.

Beet industry spokesmen offered a three-point stopgap resolution during a two-hour session with Cooley, Congressman W. B. Poage, D. Tex., vice chairman of the agriculture committee, committee members E. C. Cuthbert, D. Ark., and Thomas G. Abernethy, D. Miss., and John J. Heimbarger, committee counsel.

The beet spokesmen said that although the department of agriculture had announced some time ago that there would be no acreage controls on sugar beets in 1965, the beet sugar industry, as a contribution to bringing about a solution of current sugar problems, would be willing to accept an acreage "lid" next year "at about the level of 1964 plantings," thereby foregoing further acreage expansion which, they said, might otherwise be as great as 100,000 acres next year.

The spokesmen also voiced approval of a proposal advanced earlier this week by Congressman Cooley to provide marketing relief for the beet industry and maintain cane producers during 1964 and 1965. In his proposal, Cooley had recommended that beet continental sugar producing areas be permitted to market, this year and next, all the sugar they produced in 1963 and 1964 in excess of their statutory quotas.

This sugar was produced at government request to meet a threatened United States sugar shortage which developed early in 1963, it was pointed out. Under the producers are given marketing relief, they will have to carry large and costly inventories of the sugar produced at government urging.

The beet people expressed approval of the suggestion that the secretary of agriculture be given some discretion in determining the quantities of marketings in 1964 and 1965, although the total amount for the two years would be fixed according to legislative directive.

Ladybugs Kill Aphids In Richfield

RICHFIELD, Aug. 7.—Scattering ladybugs "naa-made-a-few" Richfield farmers a little "itchy," but they didn't mind when the aphids disappear from their alfalfa fields.

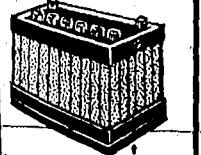

Mont Johnson, one of Richfield's best farm statisticians, has figured out the 12 gallons of ladybugs scattered on Johnson farms will destroy 81,000,000 aphids.

He reports aphids a succulent diet of the ladybugs who each eat 40 to 50 per day.

Wendell Johnson, Ralph Harris and Forrest Armstrong were West End farmers hand distributing the aphid killers this week. Mont Johnson delivered the crates of ladybugs to Wendell Johnson and his brother, Frank Johnson, and Marvin Larson, whose ranch Harris farms.

The precious insects were purchased at Eden. Eleven gallons went to West Richfield.

Roseworth Farmers Receive Water by Pipeline; More Changes Are Planned

By G. H. CHAMBERLAIN
Plans will be opened Aug. 20 for the second phase of the reconstruction of the water delivery serving ranchers and farmers on the Roseworth tract, announced Lawrence Hill, president, Cedar Mesa Reservoir and Canal company.

The first phase of the reconstruction is completed and Roseworth tract farmers are already using irrigating water delivered via a concrete pipeline instead of the old Lennon type open metal flume which once climbed out of Cedar Mesa canyon on a trestle pipe supporting structure.

"The irrigation water is moved from the bottom of the canyon by means of a re-enforced concrete 54-inch pipeline constructed to work as an inverted siphon. The new pipeline is 8,100 feet long and cost an estimated $140,000. The work also included an intake structure and diversion dam plus an outlet structure.

The diversion dam was constructed on the bottom of Cedar Mesa canyon within a stone's throw of the old diversion structure, thus giving the water a greater head as it moves down the pipeline.

The irrigation system at the present time dumps into the old canal system and is fed to the farmers down the existing system. This is scheduled for a change. The newly constructed pipeline is buried and little of the huge concrete-anakelike structure is visible. The only thing that is visible is the re-

Leaf Spots Are Reported On Gaines Wheat in Idaho

MOSCOW, Aug. 7.—"There may be a strange leaf spot on your Gaines wheat. Your crop is not unique, says University of Idaho extension plant pathologist, Harry Fenwick.

Leaf spot is wide-spread in northern Idaho this season. Requests for identification have come from all northern Idaho counties. Fenwick reports that the disease is not likely to be particularly damaging to the crop this year. The leaf spot is identified as Selenophoma.

In 1962, the year of seed increase for Gaines wheat, many fields in the Pacific Northwest became infested with Selenophoma leaf spot just about the time the crop was in the boot stage or heading. Yields were not seriously affected.

Whether or not this fungus disease becomes a problem in Gaines wheat needs to be determined in the future.

Pathologist Fenwick lists the following requirements for this disease to develop:

The spores of the fungus germinate best between temperatures of 59-77 degrees Fahrenheit with a minimum temperature of 43 degrees Fahrenheit.

The optimum temperature for most infection is 65-70 degrees Fahrenheit. It takes at least 12 hours for the spores to germinate and up to 72 hours for penetration of the host.

A humidity of 80 per cent or higher is required for spore germination. Therefore, require-ments for host penetration would be best accomplished at the above optimum temperatures plus a film of water on the leaves or extremely high humidity.

Penetration of the host is reported to be through natural leaf openings and direct penetration of the cuticle.

Other plant hosts reported for this species of Selenophoma are oats, Kentucky blue grass, quack-

FIELD OF WHEAT is inspected by Dr. L. Relis and L. H. (Rhee) Haslam. Dr. Relis is from the agriculture research center, Beltsville, Md., and is considered one of the top wheat experts.

U.S. Grain Expert Tours Magic Valley Wheat Farms

One of the nation's top wheat experts spent a few days in Magic Valley looking at the 1964 wheat crop and was impressed by what he saw.

Dr. Louis P. Relis, agriculture research service scientist, Beltsville, Md., during his short stay in the valley, pointed out the need for continuing research in many fields of agriculture. And like many wheat experts he was concerned with the presence of rust in the Idaho crop. He was accompanied on part of the tour by L. H. (Rhee) Haslam, manager, Globe Feed and Seed company.

Dr. Relis pointed out that there are some 800 different varieties of rust—it isn't just stem rust or stripe rust any more. The need to produce disease-resistant varieties of wheat is as important today as it ever was.

The well-known visitor noted that Gaines variety, which was planted on many southern Idaho wheat farms, is actually the product of research which began in the 1930's. Gaines is resistant to stripe rust and is an excellent milling wheat.

However, he pointed out the breakthrough that eventually produced Gaines began with an imported variety. Gaines is by no means a complete answer to stripe rust.

Dr. Relis said the best solution would be a Lemhi or Federation variety that was resistant to stripe rust. Researchers are busy trying to develop such a variety and it is quite likely that a Lemhi variety resistant to stripe and stem rust will be put on the market soon.

He didn't promise it would happen, but it is likely. He noted in the United States. He spent a few days in Magic Valley looking at the 1964 wheat crop while on a tour of agricultural research centers in the United States. (Times-News photo) many varieties are dumped after many years of research.

Dr. Relis is on a tour of agriculture research centers in the western states and is viewing several test plots of grain. He noted many area experiments on hybrid wheat are being conducted, but he couldn't draw anything conclusive yet from his observations.

In discussing agriculture in general, he pointed out that while the U. S. is currently producing an abundance of food, this abundance wouldn't last if the food were properly distributed around the world. If all the needy were being fed properly, the United States could be facing a shortage of food, he said.

The very nature of United States agriculture is such that the individual farmer must produce the most he can with a minimum of expense, said Dr. Relis. Individual production will continue to increase, he predicted, and the day will come when it will be needed.

In the meantime, the researcher must solve current problems and be ready to solve even more problems in the future.

He complimented Magic Valley wheat growers, saying they rank with some of the best.

CATTLE TOTALS LISTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The agriculture department predicted consumption of U. S. cotton during the 1964-65 marketing year would reach 14.5 million bales.

Imports Are Hit by T.F. Cattlemen

Twin Falls Cattlemen's association officially went on record as opposing at its last meeting to support legislation limiting the importation of beef into the United States.

Association secretary C. W. Daigh said letters have been sent to Idaho representatives Compton I. White and Ralph Harding, supporting action taken recently by the senate and asking that the two alone take similar action in the house.

"Elimination of this unnecessary competition is an important step if cattlemen are to avoid real financial losses," said the group in its appeal.

The letters were signed by seven members of the board of directors.

In other business the association voted to support Glenn Briggs as its candidate for the Grassman of the Year contest.

The association also voted to continue the practice of buying trophies for county fair winners in junior breeding classes.

Sunflower Seed Totals Are Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The foreign agricultural service estimated sunflower seed production in 1963 at 8.6 million tons, down 12 per cent from the record of nearly 10 million tons in 1962.

FAS said the indicated decline reflects a significant drop in Soviet production because of hot, dry weather, a sharply reduced harvest in Argentina because of reductions in planting and of yields, and a reduced output in Bulgaria because of lower yields from bad weather.

Man-Made Fiber Totals Climb

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The agriculture department said world production of man-made fibers in 1963 continued its sharp upward trend of recent years.

Production reached a record high 9,932,000,000 pounds, 11 per cent more than the 8,923,000,000 pounds in 1962.

U.S. production of man-made fibers in 1963 accounted for 27 per cent of the world total.

Roseworth Farmers Receive Water Through New System

It took 24 hours to increase the flow from the dam to the farm's headgate if the flow is increased at the dam. During slack times when there isn't a demand for irrigation water, the reservoir could serve the domestic need. Many Roseworth farmers and ranchers depend on Cedar creek water to furnish water for livestock and other necessities. Under the old system this meant that three or four times a year water would have to be drawn from the reservoir. This means the entire canal system would have to be practically full in order to get water to the livestock pond. A regulating reservoir could hold water right at the edge of the project for this purpose and the draw from the main reservoir would only happen maybe once during the slack period.

The regulating reservoir will require roughly 38,000 cubic yards of dirt. Some 47,000 feet of new canal will be constructed and two miles of concrete ditches will be installed. An estimated 170 structures and measuring devices will be installed and over 3,000 feet of small pipelines will be installed.

Completion date is set for May 1. Much of the success of the project will depend on the ability of the individual farmer. The new delivery system doesn't produce any new water. It does, however, reduce loss from leakage, inefficient delivery and waste water is reused.

Soil conservation officials speculate that recovery of wasted water could result in a water savings of 20 per cent. The new system stabilizes the water flow and stabilizes the entire delivery system.

The soil service is furnishing technical assistance in many cases where Roseworth tract farmers are planning to revamp irrigation practices and procedures. The agriculture stabilization and conservation service is making funds available for many Roseworth tract farmers who desire to improve their irrigation system. This is done where they desire to construct catch ponds, install concrete pipelines and concrete lined ditches.

Another phase will be the land treatment on the watershed, but this part of the project is still some time off. Still another phase which is not immediately measurable is the potential that might be realized from recreation. It is quite likely that the small regulating reservoir will be a drawing spot for ducks. There is potential as a camping or picnicking area and there is a remote possibility that a person could go for a swim in the pond.

In addition to the land treatment and technical assistance being offered on private lands, the bureau of land management is taking steps to improve the range lands. There are some 125,720 acres of land involved in the project. The official name for the project is the "Cedar Mesa small watershed project" and operates under the authority of public law 558. Five per cent of the land is cropland, 51 per cent is range land and four per cent is forest service land.

Participating agencies include the Twin Falls soil conservation district, soil conservation service, agriculture stabilization conservation service, forest service, bureau of land management and the Cedar Mesa Reservoir and Canal company, not to mention

Land Bank Official Says Business Is Increasing

The Federal Land Bank association of Twin Falls has just completed one of its best years of service to farmers and ranchers in this area.

During the 12-month period ended June 30, the association extended $932,390 of long-term mortgage credit, bringing to $7,105,000 the amount of credit outstanding on June 30. W. H. Nutting, association manager, reported this week. Of the total loan volume, $655,325 was new money used to purchase land and livestock, make improvements, pay for operations or refinance indebtedness.

Nutting said the association makes and services loans for the Federal Land bank of Spokane in Twin Falls county, and Eden-Hazelton district in Jerome county.

"The Federal Land bank system," Nutting explained, "is a federally chartered, privately owned, cooperative mortgage banking system. Its objective is to extend to farmers and ranchers a constructive, long-term farm and ranch real estate mortgage service at the lowest possible cost, consistent with sound business practices."

Sorensen Herd Has Area Record

RICHFIELD, Aug. 7 — The dairy herd of Bruce Sorensen topped Richfield DHIA members for July with 1,141 pounds of milk and 39.7 pounds of butterfat. Harold Pridmore's herd ranked second with 1,037 pounds of milk and 34.6 pounds of butterfat.

Pridmore had four cows averaging over 60 pounds of butterfat with Sandra 63.6; Moore, 62.6; Bhorly, 60.9, and Blum, 60.3. Other cows averaging over 60 pounds of butterfat were Dots, 62.5; owned by Grant, Stevens; Melody, 60.4, owned by C. F. Chatfield; Eddie, 61.3, owned by Odell Chatfield; Pei, 60.5, owned by Sorensen.

The August DHIA meeting was held Monday at the Odell Chatfield ranch.

Eden Man Selected Jerome County Grassman of Year

EDEN, Aug. 7—James Grant, Eden, has been selected Jerome County Grassman of the year in the annual competition. Grant, who was sponsored by the North Side soil conservation district for the grassman award, is an active member of the community. He is a member of the Jerome county fair board, adviser to the Valley Junior Riding club, and a member of the Valley Riding club. He is also chairman of the First Segregation Farm Bureau, a member of the Idaho Cattlemen's association and the Idaho Angus association.

JAMES GRANT

A detailed report of Grant's farming activities which was used as a basis for the grassman award was prepared by George James, work unit conservationist with soil conservation office. According to the contest report, Grant is leasing 160 acres of land and has developed it into a well balanced livestock and cash crop farm. He has approximately 160 acres that are irrigated by surface methods below a canal which runs through the farm.

Another 220 acres are irrigated by sprinkler. The steep rough land has been or is in the process of being seeded to pasture. The contour of the land is being controlled with needed control structures in place to reduce erosion to a minimum.

Bolls are checked before and after each irrigation so that only the needed amount of water is applied to the crops and pastures.

Twenty acres of established pasture and another 30 acres to be planted this fall are irrigated in the early spring and late fall. This arrangement makes maximum use of available water and equipment. During the warm summer months, the available water is utilized on the irrigated pastures and row crops.

A sound rotation is used with fertilizers to maintain soil structure and organic matter. Crops are rotated on the land. Two to three years in alfalfa, followed by beans, beets, grain for feed, beans again, peas with new seedling of alfalfa.

The bean ground, winter rye is planted in the fall for early pasture and then plowed as green manure. Irrigated pastures have been seeded to later orchard grass, manchar brome grass and lindino clover for the maximum production of forage. Pastures are fenced for rotating the grazing and irrigation.

The semi-irrigated pastures are seeded to drought resistant grasses that give good summer grazing—whitman and bluebunch wheatgrass and alfalfa. Pastures are seeded in the fall after a grain crop is harvested. This gives the young grass shade and protection without competition from a cover crop.

This area is too rough and rocky to cultivate out the cheatgrass in order to establish wheatgrass but is managed to get the most out of the cheatgrass, the report said.

This year Grant has 50 head of commercial cows and 30 head of registered Angus cows with calves on his pastures. In past years, about 40 head of Grant's own cattle were pastured plus 50 head of a neighbor's. Cattle numbers and feed produced are well balanced, the report said.

The Grant farm is located two miles south and one-fourth west of Eden.

Less Wool

BOISE, Aug. 7 (U)—The department of agriculture's crop reporting service estimates Idaho wool output this year at 8,984,000 pounds, the least since 1959.

That is nine per cent less than last year and 15 per cent less than the five-year average.

Warning Given On Grasshoppers

LOGAN, Aug. 7 (U)—UBDA entomologist John Burnett advises farmers that grasshopper control for next year must begin immediately.

He said the hoppers are now laying eggs.

He advised using Malathion, Dieldrin, or Sevin to control the hoppers in or near alfalfa fields. But he cautioned against Dieldrin, Aldrin, Heptachlor or other chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides on forage crops or on pastures.

Idaho Range Improves During June

BOISE, Aug. 7 (U)—Above normal rainfall in most areas was credited today for a sharp gain in the condition of Idaho ranges during June.

The department of agriculture said it was the best June 1 to July 1 improvement since 1944.

Most higher elevation ranges are providing excellent grazing and prospects for late summer and fall feed are described as very good.

Soil moisture and stock water supplies were reported generally adequate.

The July 1 condition was rated 91, or nine points above a month ago and six above the 1958-62 average for the date.

Condition of cattle was rated 80, seven above a month ago and two above the five year average. Most calves were in good condition and movement to summer ranges, late in many areas, was virtually complete.

Condition of sheep was also good, up six points from a month ago and two above average. Marketing of early lambs was active in southeastern Idaho.

TRANSFERRED
BOISE, Aug. 7—The transfer of Robert E. Newcomer from here to McCall was announced by the regional office of the forest service. Newcomer, assigned to the division of recreation and lands, branch of recreation management, will assume the duties of recreation and lands staff specialist on the Payette national forest, effective Aug. 2.

COST VARIES
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7—Grocery costs differ widely by the same selections in various parts of the nation, reports the U. S. department of agriculture.

Vaccine Expected to Aid Against Bovine Diarrhea

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 7—A vaccine which is expected to save cattle raisers and farmers untold millions of dollars annually has been announced by the Pitman-Moore division of the Dow Chemical Company.

Known as Mucovax, the new vaccine has been developed by the Indianapolis biological and pharmaceutical firm as a protection against bovine virus diarrhea, a disease which has reached into the pockets of cattle raisers from New York to California and from Florida to the Canadian border, draining off profits year after year.

According to Pitman-Moore researchers, the greatest loss is not from mortality. Fewer than five per cent of infected cattle die. Most of the animals suffering from the disease experience a severe loss in weight and fail to gain weight properly thereafter. Some severely infected cattle recover so slowly that they actually cause more economic loss to the owner than those that die. Additional losses due to BVD occur in milk production and abortion.

Although bovine virus diarrhea has been known for nearly two decades, until fairly recently, it has been confused generally with similar diseases such as "red nose" or infectious bovine rhinotracheitis, shipping fever, and other diseases.

Error in identifying the disease is understandable, however, since early symptoms of virus diarrhea greatly resemble those of BVD and shipping fever in many respects—primarily acute infection and signs of respiratory infection.

Development of additional symptoms help distinguish virus diarrhea which usually culminates in severe diarrhea. Another frequent distinguishing symptom sometimes is sore feet, and in chronic cases, the hooves become elongated and distorted. Many pregnant cows abort as a result of BVD infection.

In beef cattle, dehydration may be so severe that affected animals lose from 100 to 300 pounds which they fail to regain normally. Cattle often fail to fully recover even though they may start eating after the initial attack of the disease is over. As a result, the farmer may pour many dollars into feed over a long period with little in the way of weight gain to show for his money and effort when the animals are sent to market.

Bovine virus diarrhea is highly prevalent in feed lots where there is a continuous integration and concentration of cattle, although dairy herds as well as small farm herds are equally susceptible. The virus is spread primarily by infected cattle and infected animals moved in livestock traffic or from pen to pen. The disease also may be spread by movement of contaminated articles or persons from farm to farm.

There is no specific treatment for this disease and Pitman-Moore veterinarians point out that routine vaccination of cattle seems to be the only possible way to prevent and control spread of the disease. Mucovax is a modified live virus vaccine of tissue culture origin which can be administered any time after two months of age with functional immunity expected within two weeks after vaccination or sooner.

University Cow Sets New Record

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, Aug. 7—Idaho King Eden 668701, a four-year-old registered Holstein cow, owned by the University of Idaho, produced 15,780 pounds of milk, 574 pounds of butterfat, and 1,325 pounds of solids-not-fat in 305 days.

In announcing the new record, a spokesman for the national Holstein organization said that it compared with the average cow's annual output of 7,500 pounds of milk containing 275 pounds of butterfat.

THE MAJOR HAS TALKED YOUR UNCLE INTO GOING FIGHTING FOR THE ARMY. BY THE TIME WE GO HOME, HE'LL HAVE THE WHOLE BARRON INFECTED WITH HIS LADY SENSE. THE SCARECROW WILL BE SITTING IN A CHAIR, THE CORN WON'T GROW UNLESS IT'S LEANING AGAINST HIM, AND THE COWS WILL CUT DOWN ON CAPACITY AND MUST GIVE CONDENSED MILK. WE'LL BE PULLING THE OLD WEATHER VANE AROUND WITH A STRING.

(THIS IS THE FIRST DAY UNCLE SAM HAS TAKEN OFF SINCE HE BROKE HIS LEGS. EVEN THEN HE HOOKED THE PLOW ON HIS WHEEL CHAIR.)

A COUPLE OF WEEKS WITH THE MAJOR AND YOUR UNCLE WILL BE TRYING TO TRAIN THE HENCK TO COME IN THE KITCHEN AND LAY EGGS IN THE FRIG. THE PAINTING PART
